

Smithsonian.com

Eat (and Drink) Your Way Through Sinatra's Chicago

By Jennifer Billock
December 11, 2015

Sinatra loved the food at Gene and Georgetti, which, like Gibsons, is a long-time celebrity home. The restaurant has served steaks to guests ranging from Sinatra and Lucille Ball to Keanu Reeves and Will Ferrell and still attracts devoted regulars, some of whom have been coming for over 50 years. Owner Tony Durpetti tells Gerzina that Sinatra preferred to dine without the riraff or the regulars: He always came in after the restaurant was closed and could be found eating dinner there with friends late into the night.